

The Reflector. THURSDAY, DECEMBER 6, 1888. Official Paper of County and City.

Mrs. Harvey Strickler is quite sick with typhoid fever.

Try those DAILY REFLECTOR cigars at Shaler's. They are daisies.

There are one or two cases of scarlet fever in the city. Parents should be exceedingly careful of their little ones.

Mrs. J. M. Fisher, who has been ill for some time, is able to leave her room and will soon be entirely recovered.

The farmers of South Dickinson are kicking because an ordinance of Hope prevents their retailing meat from their wagons upon the streets of that place.

Tom Gallagher, the mainstay of the Herington Headlight, it is said, would accept the postmastership of Herington if it were tendered him. Tom deserves recognition and we hope he will get what he wants.

The Manchester Sun has just completed its first year. We hope its second volume may be as successful as its first. Editor Green says he has not received an order to "stop my paper" from any of his subscribers—certainly a unique record among Kansas newspapers.

The Woman's Relief Corps met Friday afternoon for inspection. There was a full attendance and the inspectress expressed herself as well pleased with the evident prosperity of the order. Much good has been done by the W.R.C. in the past year, and its kind offices will be still more notable during the wintry months to come.

A slight change has taken place in the corps of teachers of our city schools. Miss Eva Stewart has resigned and gone to Washington Territory, where what takes place will probably be as David Wills it. Miss Anna Jacoby has been assigned to Miss Stewart's position and Miss Maggie Wilson fills the place formerly held by Miss Jacoby.

A Rushing Business. The firm of L. H. Faulkner & Co. seems to be doing a rushing business in disposing of winter clothing, hats, caps, etc. We suppose it is all on account of that $400 upright piano that is soon to be drawn by some lucky ticket-holder. Everybody is anxious to get as many tickets as possible.

Left Town. The Hefley family which has lived in Abilene for several months departed yesterday for Nebraska City, Neb., where they will make their home. The father and son have been engaged in tailoring but have not succeeded in making the business go. The remains of Mr. Hefley's mother who died last summer were taken up from the Abilene cemetery and removed with the family to Nebraska City.

A Hotel Change. The Burris house has in the past few days changed management. Mr. Lash, the former manager, has retired and Mrs. Kate Courtney has taken charge. The house will be under the general management of Mr. J. H. Ammon, well known as one of Abilene's most genial and accommodating hosts. The house will be run in strictly first-class style and will continue to prove a favorite with the traveling public.

Fun in Prospect. The Talmage brass band will give an entertainment at the school house Saturday evening Dec. 8th, under the management of Prof. Daniel Galileo Rudy. Two plays will be presented to the delighted and instructed audience in a way that would do credit to the Grand Opera House of New York City. The following are the "stars": Fred Shadinger, John Keifer, Harry Cundiff, D. G. Rudy, Miss Nona Cundiff, Miss Edith Shadinger. With an admission fee of but 25 cents the young folks should have a good house. The brass band will be in attendance and discourse sweet strains of music.

The High School Library. A large invoice of new books, nearly 800 in all, were received today for the high school library, being part of a recent extensive purchase. Among the books which have been carefully selected by Prof. A. V. Jewett are "Longfellow's Complete Works" in 14 volumes, "Stories of the Nations" in 21 volumes, and various other fine sets. The Abilene schools now possess one of the largest libraries in the State, 1,400 volumes, and probably has the best selection of books in Kansas. The city should be proud of having so fine an opportunity for its children to become acquainted with good literature.

A Sudden Death. News was received here today of the sudden death of Mrs. N. Rothenburg, the wife of a prominent farmer living a mile south of New Basel. It seems that the lady retired Thursday night, apparently in ordinary health. About 10 o'clock she complained of feeling ill and told her husband that she felt inclined to vomit. Advising, she commenced to do so and threw up a large amount of blood, and in ten minutes was dead. The sorrowing husband will have the sincere sympathy of a large number of friends and acquaintances in his peculiarly sad bereavement. The funeral will be held tomorrow.

THANKSGIVING DAY.

How Abilene's Citizens Offered Thanks for the Many Blessings Received During the Past Year.

The people of our fair city evidently believed that they had much to be thankful over yesterday for they with one accord returned gratitude in a manner entirely befitting the day. In every home, even the humblest, added delicacies were served and the family made to recognize the occasion as one of remembrance of blessings received. Parents, children, grand-children and relatives of various degrees gathered about the laden tables and feasted and laughed and recalled former days, happy in consciousness of a bright present and a promising future.

In many homes were out of town visitors who came to spend the day in visiting and merry making, while on the other hand many of our people broke bread with their friends in our sister cities.

Business was entirely suspended and the streets wore a deserted appearance. The men who came down to the mail in the evening wore a happy, self-satisfied look that told of a fully supplied appetite. The hotels all served exceptionally fine dinners so that the travelers in our midst did not suffer.

The religious recognition of the day began with the general UNION SERVICE.

The union Thanksgiving service took place in the Presbyterian church this city yesterday at 10:30 a. m. The attendance was not by any means what it should have been, there being less than three hundred people present. Those present, however, entered heartily into the service, making the occasion of more than ordinary interest.

The services were conducted by Rev. T. F. Stauffer assisted by Revs. Platz of the Evangelical and Stover of the United Brethren church. Appropriate and excellent addresses were delivered by Rev. Zimmerman of the M. E. church and Rev. Porch of the Lutheran church. The service being of an informal character, brief remarks were made by a number of persons in the audience. During the reading of the offertory a collection was taken for the benefit of the poor, amounting to $21.20, which was given to Mayor Rice to be used by him in such worthy charity as he may deem best. Two Thanksgiving anthems were rendered by the church choir in an excellent manner, making the music of the service a most interesting feature of the occasion. The audience was most worshipful in its character, joining in the reading of the scriptural lessons and the singing of the hymns, indicating a real gratitude of both the heart and mind of the worshippers.

The services were closed by singing the doxology, the benediction being pronounced by Rev. Harrington. In the St. John's church services were also held at 10:30 and holy communion administered. After the dinners had been disposed of everybody began to think of the event of the evening and making preparations for attending the FIREMEN'S SUPPER AND BALL.

When those disposed to patronize this commendable affair reached the city hall, they found that the firemen, assisted by the ladies who have so generously taken hold of the arrangements, had every thing in readiness for their comfort and amusement. From the lower room of the hall the hose carts and reels had been removed and tables were set for the refreshment of the revelers. Upstairs was the room devoted to dancing.

The attendance was large and nearly all the prominent citizens of the city, including the officials, walked through the quadrille and swirled through the waltzes to the delightful music of Hawkins' orchestra. It was an animated and enlivening scene and proved so attractive that it was almost impossible for the floor managers to keep back the crowd of spectators which forced in upon the dancing floor. The following were the officers of the occasion: Geo. Lloyd, Tom Armstrong, Dick Evers and Chas. Hodge; committee on arrangements, G. M. Fisher, Chas. HMI and Geo. Schurer; door keepers, Lou Lipps, Ed Vegiard, Chas. Polley, Wm. Parks; cloak room, Byron Keller; ticket seller, Wm. Messenger.

About 10 o'clock councilman W. J. Winfield made a humorous little speech to the assembled crowd and invited them down to the supper tables. The feast of good things was rapidly demolished and then the amusement of the evening continued to a late hour. Thus ended Thanksgiving of 1888 in Abilene.

A Big Deal. Our townsman, Robert Knox, has just completed a large sale of property belonging to him in Tacoma, Washington Territory, to Nelson Bennett of that place. The total amount of the deal is $20,000, a handsome sum and one which will net Mr. Knox a fine return upon his investment of three years ago. He is to be congratulated upon his good fortune.

K of P. Officers. Damon Lodge, No. 6, Knights of Pythias, met Wednesday evening for the election of officers for the ensuing six months. The list as given below is the choice of the lodge and by the excellence of the selection promises well for the next half year's work.

P. C.—D. Barnes; C. C.—J. G. Holzworth; V. C.—E. S. Hamaker; P. H. S. Tisdale; K. of R. S.—C. S. Crawford; M. of F.—M. Landis; M. of E.—M. H. Malott; M. at A.—Ben Knappa. Representative to Grand Lodge, H. S. Tisdale.

I. O. R. M.

Shaubee tribe, No. 12, met Friday night in the wigwam, and in addition to scalp-taking and routine business elected officers for the coming year. The following were chosen: Sachem, Richard Waring; Senior Sagamore, J. B. Edwards; Junior Sagamore, L. H. Faulkner.

The tribe is in a very prosperous condition and has ahead of it prospects for capturing a long line of palefaces who will be handled in the Red Men's mysterious and soul-thrilling manner.

Taken Home.

Thursday about six o'clock Alphonsus, the nine year old son of John and Mary Sullivan, left this world for a better one beyond. The child had been ailing for five or six months and his death was peaceful and calm. The sorrowing parents miss the little one sorely but are soothed by the fact that his gentle nature has left a record of dutiful devotion behind that it will be a pleasure to remember.

The funeral services were held at 4 p. m. today at the Catholic church, Rev. Father Leary officiating. A large number of friends were present and followed the remains to their last resting place, the Abilene cemetery.

A Father Taken.

Friday at 4 p. m. at his home fourteen miles southwest of Abilene and five north of Carlton, died A. A. Tolbert, a well-known citizen and farmer of south Dickinson. Mr. Tolbert has long been a leader in the doings of his vicinity and leaves a vacancy in the neighborhood circles that will be hard to fill.

A wife and one child survive him and mourn the loss of a kind father and loving husband. He was aged about 45 years and came to Kansas several years ago. He had a large farm and was considered well-to-do. The funeral will be held tomorrow at 10 a. m. at the church. The interment will be in the Harmony church cemetery, Garfield township.

Winger Winged.

An interesting police court case occupied the attention of his honor Friday morning. Marshal Powell corralled a certain Benjamin Winger, who had indulged too freely in the material which not only cheers but inebriates. On the way jailward, however, Winger made a break for liberty and being much stronger than the marshal escaped. This morning the officer, armed with a new warrant, attacked the enemy in Shockey & Snider's store. The man, after a tussle or two, locked himself in a room and it was only after considerable hard work that he was captured. At last he was escorted to the police court and given a dose of $35.74 as a sedative to quiet his nerves after his hilarious Thanksgiving spree.

Another Jointest Pulled.

Marshal Powell has another laurel added to his rapidly lengthening list. Saturday morning occurred the trial of David Town, a Southside jointest whom Mr. Powell had captured. The express company's books traced a large amount of liquor to Town, who held forth in conjunction with the man Gordon, and in this case as in Gordon's, the marshal's correctness of suspicion was easily proven. The trial was held before Judge Dewey, and Town got $15.75 and 30 days in the bastille where he now makes his headquarters.

Marshal Powell is proving himself the right man in the right place. His untiring investigation and prosecution of sellers of liquor stamps him as a friend of justice and sobriety of whom Abilene should be proud.

A Lost Overcoat.

Frank Ball went last week to Illinois to bring back the horses belonging to W. G. Cowles. Of course he wanted to impress the people along the route with Abilene's greatness and so invested, before going, in one of those magnificent fur-collared $37.50 overcoats of Stier's.

That the people were impressed cannot be disputed, indeed there seems to have been awakened a wild and ungovernable desire to possess the handsome garment. At least when going through an Iowa city Frank left the car and sauntered around the depot yards for a little exercise the coat was abstracted from the car and Frank is just $37.50 out. He is undecided whether to buy another or have his linen duster lined with sheepskin and use it for an ulster.

A Change in Management.

The theater-going public, and indeed all others, will be interested in learning of the change which has just been made in the management of the Bonebrake opera house.

Mr. R. M. White, who for five years has ably and satisfactorily filled the position, is succeeded by Howard E. Bonebrake.

Mr. White has made hosts of friends, not only among theater-goers, but among the dramatic profession, by his gentlemanly and business-like management of the opera house, and good judgment in the selection of troupes. He has, by his careful catering to the public's taste made Abilene rank among the first theatrical cities of the State, and given us some of the best attractions in the West. In resigning the position he only does so because of the press of other business matters which demand his time.

Mr. Bonebrake, who succeeds him, is a young man of push and energy and will keep up the already high standing of the opera house. We congratulate him upon his accession to the position.

DIED ALONE.

A Prominent Citizen of South Dickinson Stricken by Apoplexy—Hope Notes.

Special to REFLECTOR. Hope, Kas., Nov. 29.—The startling information was received here this morning of the strange death of one of south Dickinson's most prominent citizens, Col. A. S. Jarnigan.

Mr. Jarnigan has been living alone on his farm south of Dillon. This morning a neighbor going by went into the yard to see him and found the house deserted. Proceeding to the stable the dead body of Mr. Jarnigan was found near the stable door, stretched upon the ground. It was dressed as usual and in the overcoat pocket was found the dead man's Tuesday evening mail. He had probably returned from the postoffice at Dillon, put out his horse and started for the house when he was prostrated. The indications are that he died of apoplexy.

A considerable sum of money was found in his pockets, conclusive evidence that there had been no foul play. He had lain in the place where found at least forty-eight hours. Col. Jarnigan was one of the oldest settlers of Dickinson county and was the "father" of Dillon. He had long been a prominent figure in business and political life and his loss will be sorely felt. Large numbers of people visited the scene of the death today.

The Hope G. A. R. begins this evening a three night's rendition of the popular "Blue and Gray." It is sure to be a success.

Mrs. W. P. Robinson leaves next week for a visit to friends in Illinois and Wisconsin.

A delegation of Nebraska capitalists is in town looking up the creamery project. A reorganization of the creamery company is probable.

Dr. Ketchersid and E. L. Martin are among the prominent citizens who have gone to Colorado to enjoy the benefits of the mountain air and the cheap excursion rates.

A New Location.

The Lombard Investment Co. has moved its Abilene office to the old G. A. R. headquarters, in the Hodge block. The company, under the efficient management of Mr. J. E. Hill, has become one of the chief business houses of the city and its removal to more commodious quarters shows that deserved prosperity is being accorded it.

Dr. McKeehan Resigns.

Rev. Dr. J. L. McKeehan, who has so ably presided over the Presbyterian church as pastor during the past four years, has sent in his resignation. The church has accepted it though Dr. McKeehan has not yet been notified, he being at present in New York City. The cause of the gentleman's action is throat troubles, which will probably retire him from the rostrum and pulpit.

We, in common with his hundreds of friends here, regret this action. Dr. McKeehan has proved himself a faithful pastor and a perfect christian gentleman. His work in Abilene has resulted in the upbuilding of the cause of Christ and has been characterized by a whole-souled earnestness and faithful performance of duty that has made Dr. McKeehan loved and respected not alone by his own congregation but by the people of the entire city as well. We wish him health and abundant success wherever his lot may be cast.

Some Fine Stock.

W. G. Cowles, of the Kansas Farm Mortgage company, returned this morning bringing with him two of the finest stallions ever seen in Kansas, or indeed west of the Mississippi.

One is a French coach horse, bred in the French government stables and imported in July, 1888. He is a cross between the Arabian stock and the English thoroughbred, dark bay, three years old, sixteen hands high and of elegant style and action. Suited perfectly to his purpose—general purpose roadster. He is the first horse of the kind ever brought into this part of the State and will attract wide attention.

The other is a black Norman thoroughbred, two years old, about fifteen hands high and a superb animal with wonderful promise of future development.

The horses were purchased of W. L. Ellwood, DeKalb Illinois, and are among best stock of that of that justly famed horse farm.

Mr. Cowles is doing Dickinson county much good in importing such animals. It is in stock raising that this part of Kansas will find its surest prosperity and anything that aids in this direction is a benefit to our people.

The horses are now at Mr. Cowles' stables in Fairview but will be exhibited on the streets next week so that all lovers of perfect horse flesh may see and admire them.
